

COMPILER AND INTERPRETER

Compiler: Compiler converts our source code(program/human understandable language) into machine understandable language and compiler compiles our source code in one time and if any errors is present then it will show.

Interpreter: Interpreter compile our source code line by line, if any error found in our code our source code can't be compiled.